SECOND HUGE ENTERPRISE FOR NEVADA MINERS

One of the largest establishments for the reduction and sampling of ores in the State of Nevada is now nearing completion in the northern suburbs of Tonopah. It is the property of the Tonopah Sampling and Ore Purchasing Company. The main building in the works group is a structure of five stories and a two-story basement extending, 95 feet by 32 feet, and 75 feet high, the basement extending to a depth of 10 feet below the ground surface. It is built of substantial mill construction, common to this class of buildings, and covered with corrugated iron.

The methods employed for handling large quantities of ores utilize the most approved modern appliances. The main building is provided with eight storage and two receiving bins, each with a capacity of 100 tons. These are connected with three bucket elevators used in conveying ore to the top story, when it descends by gravity through the various chambers and grinders and is distributed finally through chutes to proper receptacles, ready for the assayer. Every operation is performed automatically, precluding possibilities of error in the weight or measure of ores being treated.

The building equipment consists of two Gates Style "D" Ore Crushers; one set of rolls 40 inches by 15 inches one 30 inches by 10 inches; and another 20 inches by 10 inches; two pulp grinders; a 150 h. p. Allis-Chalmers Motor; one double Vazine Sampler; one duplicate Vazine Sampler. A transformer house has been erected adjacent to the main building in which three power transformers are installed. Eighty-five tons of ore will be treated daily when the plant is in regular operation. This output can be readily increased by the addition of more equipment, should necessity require.

The remaining buildings in the group are a four-room office, a building 18 feet by 24 feet for the sampling of ores and an up-to-date assay office fully equipped. The treatment of ores at the new plant will begin as soon as the railroad tracks leading from the main line to the works can be completed. The entire equipment for this plant is being furnished by the Allis-Chalmers Company of Milwaukee.

The county commissioners of Washoe are "waiting for other parties" before selling an electric road franchise to Steamboat.

Some ill advised editors are giving a good deal of space to the organization of mining operators at Tonopah. The space is all right, but the tone of the contents is apt to accentuate the prospect of differences in the future.

Lightning struck two houses in Reno last night and Mrs. T. E. Riley and Mrs. J. Merklinger were injured. Telephone and light wires were put out of commission, and the police and fire alarm systems were burned out.

AS TO TELEPHONES

Our morning contemporary is out with a husky roar about the telephone service, local and long distance particularly long distance, and more particularly at the other end of long distance.

The Appeal has a roar too, and there will be something doing in this neck of the woods if things do not improve.

A miner named Falk of Genoa, was hurt in the Silver Hill mine at Silver City Saturday. A chunk of rock fell on his leg, breaking it.

Another of Uncle Sam's expensive transports is on the rocks. This comes of allowing a navy officer to have command over the captain of the ship.

Reno papers are getting a lot of money from rival bucketshop operators who are holding "calls", and advertising the fact with great gusto. The papers can stand it a while. Some day some one will hold them responsible for being beaten on a mining deal, then "that".

Atty. Pilkington spent Monday in the city on business, going to Reno this afternoon.

H. P. Nichols, returned from Tonopah last night where he has been attending to some mining business.

WHY SCHWAB STOCKS TOOK SLUMP

THE ATTEMPT TO PULL THE STEEL MAN'S LEG FOR THE FALL CAMPAIGN AND FAILS UTTERLY.

The San Francisco Examiner gives the inside history of the attempt made to induce Charles M. Schwab to go into politics.

The Appeal predicted some time ago that the manipulations of certain republicans to induce the steel magnate to drop a lot of money in the political game would fail. Here is the Examiner's story in full.

Wealthy Nevada mining men are waging a bitter war in mining stock circles because Charles M. Schwab, former president of the steel trust, has refused to become a citizen of Nevada and make a fight for the United States Senatorship against Senator Francis G. Newlands, whose term expires in 1908. Because of his refusal Schwab has made enemies of former friends and business associates, who are said to have desired increased political and social prestige through a programme they had mapped out for Schwab.

"They had influence enough to get Senator George S. Nixon of Nevada to try his persuasive power on Schwab and get him to contest for the toga with Newlands. Nixon and Newlands are political enemies, and the former would like to see Schwab defeat Newlands. When he failed to interest Schwab in the political game Nixon stood to one side and is now a spectator of the fight between the former steel trust magnate and his erstwhile associates.

John McKane, the shrewd and wealthy Scotchman and mining engineer who induced Charles M. Schwab to invest in Nevada gold mines and made for him $15,000,000 in the past three years, has quarreled with him, so the story goes. As a result Schwab has displaced McKane as his Nevada mining representative at a salary of $50,000 a year and has given the position to William Gillis, a Pittsburg man and old friend.

"This is the explanation of a dispatch in 'The Examiner' from Denver yesterday to the effect that there is a fight among the stock holders of the Tonopah Extension Company by which its 300,000 shares have shrunk in value during the past few weeks fully $10.50 a share, or a total of $10,200,000. McKane and his friends in the company are fighting Schwab and are dumping a lot of the stock on the market to offset Schwab's efforts to stiffen the stock price in New York.

"McKane and his friends are doing the same with the stock of the Golden Anchor mine of Tonopah, and have succeeded in reducing it from $1.75 a share to 35 cents. Schwab is largely interested in the Anchor and has been trying to boom its stock in the East along with that of the Tonopah Extension.

"The McKane crowd appear to have the better of the fight against Schwab at present, but in making their fight they have succeeded in demoralizing the market for the so-called Schwab stocks in this city, Denver and New York, and have injured financially many innocent investors.

"McKane is a millionaire in his own right—a picturesque shrewd, ambitious, extravagant."

EVERETT GETS LIFE TERM

The sheriff of Esmeralda county came in this morning with Frank Everett, under a life sentence for the murder of Foreman Malone, of the Tonopah railroad at the shops at Mina. The story of the murder details one of the most brutal crimes in the history of the state. Everett went to the shop and asked for a special train, and was told that he could not have it at that time he began to shout, and at that time he became enraged, went away, and returned with a gun with which he killed Malone.

He was tried in Esmeralda county, adjudged guilty of murder in the second degree and was sentenced by Judge Murphy to spend the balance of his natural life in the state prison, where he is now confined.

THE "HAIRY MAN" MINE HAS BEEN REDISCOVERED

The Hairy Man mine has been found.

This mine has been a lost bonanza for years and stories of its fabulous richness have been current in the central part of the state wherever its existence was known.

The new finders have brought in quartz that bristles with gold, and the ledge is said to be of great width. A sack full of samples weighed in pure gold over $2000.

The Hairy Man mine derives its name from a story handed down for more than forty years. It is said that a tragedy of early mining days was enacted there in the fifties, resulting in the loss of two lives following which trace of the mine was lost. Stories of fabulous wealth contained in the mine, maps left describing its location, and other evidence remaining from that period would indicate that the property is none but the original Hairy Man mine, and the fact that fabulous rich ore has been again discovered only bears out the conclusion of many of the old settlers, that the Hairy Man mine was not a myth, but a reality, and the old tunnel, the rich specimens and the present rediscovery of the ledge spells a story of death, not at all unusual during the time when it is said to have occurred.

AS TO SIDEWALK RIGHTS

Some of the enterprising business firms of this city will wake up some around their cashiana shredmfom morning to find a suit for damages on their hands if they do not get busy and clear up the side walks around their place of business.

Boxes, barrels, packing material, any old thing that happens to accumulate are left on the side walk besides doors, front doors and no doors at all. Pedestrians can use the street of course; but as long as the sidewalks have been built, and in view of the fact that ordinances exist regulating the use of sidewalks, it might be well for the city authorities to see that the walks are kept clear, or that a passage way at least is left open. Some one will break a leg yet.

THE WIRE PULLERS RETURN

Adolph Shane, who has been in Chicago for some weeks for his health, has returned to the sagebrush in order to get in harness for the fall campaign. He has been studying new kinks in running primaries in Chicago and will doubtless introduce them in Reno this fall. He has gained several pounds and is otherwise improved.

Tom Lawson refers to the president in the June number of Everybody's Magazine, as "the boss much-raker of us all." There must be some good reason for Tom being willing to admit that his rake is not the biggest one.
